

Speed Search Descriptions

This person feels that chicken is healthier than steak.

This person is the oldest child in his or her family.

This person thinks that smoking is more dangerous for your health than eating junk food.

This person is the youngest child in his or her family.

This person wears a smaller shoe size than you do.

This person is older than you are.

This person is from the largest city in his or her country.

This person has lived in your town or city longer than six months.

This person is taller than 5'6".

This person uses a computer more than once a week.

This person thinks rice is more delicious than pasta.

This person has more than four children.

This person watches more than one movie a month.

This person has fewer than three children.

This person sleeps fewer than 6 hours a night.

This person is taller than 6 feet.

This person thinks running is more exhausting than biking.

This person has fewer pairs of shoes than you do.

This person thinks winter is better than summer.

This person thinks he or she is the funniest person in the family.

This person thinks soccer is more interesting than American football.

This person thinks math is more difficult than English.

This person thinks English is more difficult than math.

This person wears a larger shoe size than you do.

This person travels farther to school than you do.

This person lives closer to school than you do.

This person has been in the United States longer than you have.

This person believes that life in the U.S. is more expensive than life in his or her home country.

This person comes from a country where the weather is warmer than it is in the warmest parts of the United States.

This person is younger than you are.